

NEWSLETTER No 6 • 2021-04-22

Dear colleague,

We hope that you are looking forward to the meeting next week, just as much as we are! With this final weekly newsletter we wish to give you some practical information, as well as share with you the final agenda and the documents for the breakout sessions on Day 2, attached with this email.

Plenary sessions – day 1 and 4

The plenary sessions are open to everyone and take place on Monday April 26 and Thursday April 29. On this coming Sunday (CEST) you will receive a calendar invite with the link for the Monday and the Thursday sessions; it will be the same link for these two days. The meeting will be a webinar and you will be able to ask questions to the presenters and send messages through the chat. There will be simultaneous translations to English, French, Russian and Spanish.

Breakout sessions for country representatives – day 2

On Tuesday April 27, those who have been invited to and registered for a breakout session will discuss more in depth specific issues on policy, AMR or AMC (depending on selected work stream). We are pleased to inform you that everyone's request concerning selection of work stream, time slot and preferred language has been met. The link to each work stream will be sent on Monday to registered participants.

To prepare for the breakout session you are strongly advised to read the attached white paper for your selected work stream.

If you are a designated country representative and have not registered through the personal link which was sent to you previously, and wish to do so, please contact us on info@glass2020.org (the online form is now closed).

Outcome statement

One of the outcomes of the meeting will be a written statement, corresponding to the meeting discussions. We plan to share a draft outcome statement with all of you on Tuesday April 27 (COB Geneva time), in order to be able to reflect some of the points raised during the Monday plenary and the breakout sessions on the Tuesday.
