

6 September 2022, 14:00-15:00 CEST

Virtual, on Zoom

Agenda

Chair: Dr Santino Severoni, Director, Health and Migration Programme (PHM), WHO

14.00 ● Opening remarks

- Dr Hanan Balkhy, Assistant Director-General for Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR), WHO

14.05 ● Technical session

- Rifat Hossain, Data and evidence, PHM, WHO

● Strategic importance of Global Evidence Review on Health and Migration (GEHM) for policy making for refugees and migrants

- Dr Palmira Immordino, Data and evidence, PHM, WHO

● Capturing the evidence on access to essential antibiotics in migrant and refugee populations

- Dr Susan Rogers Van Katwyk, Managing Director, WHO Collaborating Centre on Global Governance of Antimicrobial Resistance

● Developing a “People-centred framework” for addressing Antimicrobial resistance (AMR)

- Mr Anand Balachandran, Unit Head, AMR, SPC – National Action Plans and Monitoring, WHO

● Open discussion

- Facilitated by Dr Enrique Castro-Sánchez, Associate Professor in Infection Prevention and Improvement, College of Nursing, Midwifery and Healthcare, University of West London

14.50 ● Closing remarks

- Dr Santino Severoni, Director, PHM, WHO
- Mr Anand Balachandran on behalf of Dr Catharina Van Weezenbeek, Director, SPC/AMR, WHO

