

Access to safe and effective contraception protects against unintended pregnancies and contributes to healthier societies